

Dear friends,

We are now in Kampala. We arrived today (8/28/07). We just dropped our two girls off in Kenya at Rift Valley Academy. They are doing great! They weren't really interested in waiting for our bus to leave to say goodbye – they wanted to get to the soccer field to watch the boys play! We've said goodbye now to all five kids in under a week! We don't have any tears left. We haven't had consistent access to the internet so we've not been able to stay in touch. We hope to sit down and write tomorrow – if there is electricity. That is always the unknown. We will keep you posted.

It will be my priority tomorrow to update everyone. I will most likely use a different e-mail address. Thanks for all of your prayers.

Mike
